CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

The 49th Annual Conference of the Linguistic Society of Papua New Guinea will take place June 17-19, 2015, at the University of Papua New Guinea, Waigani Campus.

Language enables all cultural and socio-economic development; paradoxically, this may hinder development by creating communication issues in modern multilingual/multicultural societies. With the conference theme echoing the overarching national concern to promote sustainable socio-economic development in Papua New Guinea, LSPNG 2015 aims to stimulate a useful exchange of ideas between intellectuals and policy makers on language education and language-related issues. While abstracts of papers on any subject dealing with topics in Melanesian languages and linguistics are invited, preference will be given to those pertaining to language and its role in society.

Plenary Speakers:

- Prof. William Foley (University of Sydney, Australia)
- Prof. John Clifton (SIL International and University of North Dakota, USA)
- Prof. Nick Faraclas (University of Puerto Rico)
- The names of Speakers representing Papua New Guinean academics and policy makers will be announced shortly, in our second call for abstracts.

Abstract Submission

We invite abstracts (maximum 300 words) for 20-minute presentations, so that the LSPNG 2015 Conference Program can be properly planned and arranged into cohesive sessions.

Abstracts must be submitted electronically in Word format to langlxmlanesia@gmail.com

Abstract content

A few suggestions:

1. Your choice of title will help us group your paper with others, to form thematically cohesive sessions; please make sure the title clearly reflects the essence of your presentation.
2. State the main point or argument of your presentation.
3. Summarize the significance of your research.

Deadline for abstract submission:

Friday, April 3, 2015. Authors will be notified of abstract acceptance within two weeks of abstract submission date.
